A Fatal Freight Wreck.

B. T. Corey of Littleton Killed Near Passumpsic.

A rear end collision of two freight trains at the iron railroad bridge about half a mile below Passumpsic Monday afternoon just before five o'clock resulted in the death of B. T. Corey, aged 24, of Littleton, and the injury of Engineer A.
C. Eastman of Lyndonville and Fireman Walden Ryther of Newport. The regular way freight north with E. H. Brown, conductor, and E. W. Ruggles, engineer, stopped at the bridge while the engine was uncoupled for the purpose of moving some cars which were in the gravel pit at that point.
The caboose and about one-half of the next car were in the bridge. A flagman was sent back to stop the extra freight which was known to be coming, but this train was following so closely that there was no time and it dashed around the curve just below the bridge at full head and crashed into the cars on the bridge, smashing the caboose into splinters and throwing it down the steep embankment to the river, where it took fire from the store and was soon a mass of flames.

Two other cars were derailed and overturned, and the second car of the extra from the engine stopped opposite the burning caboose and the fire was communicated to it. As the extra approached the bridge Engineer Eastman and Fireman Ryther jumped, the former striking the bridge, sustained a severe scalp wound and fell into the river and swam ashore. The latter struck the bridge abutment, broke his left arm near the wrist, sprained his right ankle, received a severe cut on the head and other minor injuries. He was taken to a nearby house received medical attendance, and was taken to his home in Newport yesterday.

After reaching the shore Engineer Eastman pluckily mounted his disabled engine and backed it out of the wreck, setting out the burning car, thus saving the engine, bridge and remainder of his train from danger of fire. The property loss will not be great; the colliding engine was but slightly damaged. The burned freight car was loaded with figs and the overturned cars carried an assortment of merchandise. The wreck train from Lyndonville was soon at the scene and a special from St. Johnsbury carried physicians to care for the wounded.

The circumstances attending the death of Mr. Corey were particularly sad. He came in August from West Virginia, where he had spent the winter, and for the past six weeks has been in the employ of Swift Bros. of this place as driver. He closed his engagement there Saturday and went to White River Junction in search of employment, but decided to go to Lyndonville Monday and apply for a position on the railroad. His brother is a brakeman on the way freight and he was riding as a passenger in the caboose when the collision occurred.

A search was made for the body Monday night but the heat would not allow a close examination of the wreck. The body was found about ten o'clock yesterday in the water near the bank, completely covered with wreckage.
Death was instantaneous as there was a deep cut and a severe bruise on his head and there were no evidences of drowning.
The body was brought to St. Johnsbury, and will be taken to his home in Littleton this morning.

North Church Sociable.

The free social held in the parlors of the North church last week Tuesday evening was the first of a series of social events planned by the social and entertainment committee of the Woman's Association. The silk bags which had been distributed for the collection of small change, were brought in. The contents amounting to about $75, will be used for missionary and local work. During the evening piano solos were rendered by Miss Maud Brown and Miss Margaret Gorham. Solos by Miss Anna M. Somerville and Frank H. Brooks; Mrs. Anna Spencer Frost gave a recital and Arthur E. Stone a reading. After the entertainment light refreshments were served. An attractive leaflet announcing the social entertainments in prospect for the winter was distributed at this gathering.

Another Foot Ball Victory.

The Academy Eleven again demonstrated its ability to play foot ball when it defeated Brigham Academy at Bakers-field Saturday, by a score of 20 to 0.
The line up for the game was as follows:

Will We Lose the Fish Hatchery.

There is some danger that St. Johnsbury is to lose the Hatchery, or at least that this station will become subordinate to a hatchery located in some other part of the state. This fact has been surmised ever since it was announced that the idea of building a storage dam above Emerson Falls and making the intervals occupied by Riverside Farm into a reservoir was abandoned by the government because of local opposition.
The matter was brought to public attention again last week by a meeting at Rutland of which the Herald says:

"Senator Redfield Proctor of Proctor, United States Fish Commissioner George M. Bowers of Washington, D. C., and John W. Titcomb of St. Johnsbury were in town yesterday. None of the party would talk regarding the business which brings them here, but it is understood that their errand is in relation to a favorable site for an auxiliary fish hatchery in this vicinity. There is a $20,000 appropriation not in use, which was originally intended for the purpose of increasing the water supply at the St.
Johnsbury hatchery. There is not enough water in that section, however, of the proper temperature in the hot summer months to increase this supply as much as desired, hence the demand for an auxiliary station."

Mr. Titcomb in speaking of the situation, states that it is utterly impossible to accomplish the desired results at the hatchery with the water supply as it is at present. The quantity of water is ample and the quality is excellent, the only trouble being that during the hot season the storage capacity is so small that the water reaches a temperature that unfits it for use and the larger reservoir was planned with the idea of remedying this trouble. It will be remembered that an appropriation of $20,- 000 was secured from congress to cover the land damage and erect the necessary dam. This it was understood was just a beginning, for it was the plan to make the St. Johnsbury hatchery the best in the United States. It was generally believed that the matter had reached a final settlement, but the desire of Mr.
Titcomb and the Fisheries commission to have the Vermont station a model one has not been given up and a new station may be built on the west side of the state that may eventually become the main hatchery.
